

Bay of Marseilles, Seen from L'Estaque (c. 1885)
Art Institute of Chicago

Paul Cézanne

(19 January 1839 – 22 October 1906)

Was a French artist and Post-Impressionist painter, who can be said to form the bridge between late 19th-century Impressionism and the early 20th century's new line of artistic enquiry, Cubism.

Both Matisse and Picasso are said to have remarked that Cézanne "is the father of us all."

